the 1990s, the number of people in the United States who are obese has increased by 50 percent. In 1990, 15 percent of the population was obese, but by 2000, that number had risen to 23 percent. And the numbers are projected to continue to rise. By 2010, 30 percent of the population is expected to be obese, and by 2020, that number is projected to reach 35 percent. The increase in obesity is a major public health concern because it is a leading cause of heart disease, diabetes, and other chronic diseases. The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) estimates that obesity costs the United States $147 billion each year in medical costs and lost productivity. The CDC also reports that obesity is the leading cause of death in the United States, with more than 300,000 people dying each year from complications related to obesity. The increase in obesity is also a major concern for the military because it can affect a soldier's ability to perform his or her duties. The Department of Defense (DoD) estimates that obesity costs the military $1.5 billion each year in medical costs and lost productivity. The DoD also reports that obesity is the leading cause of death in the military, with more than 10,000 people dying each year from complications related to obesity. There is a growing consensus that the current economic crisis is a result of a global financial system that has become increasingly complex and interconnected. This complexity has led to a system that is highly vulnerable to shocks, such as the one we are currently experiencing. The global financial system has become a single, integrated market, and this has led to a system that is highly vulnerable to shocks. # Beermen expect tougher Phone Pals in Game 2

The Beermen are expected to face a tougher challenge in Game 2 of the PBA Commissioner's Cup quarterfinals against the Phone Pals.

In Game 1, the Beermen secured a narrow victory over the Phone Pals, but they know the Pals will be more determined in Game 2.

The Phone Pals, coached by a former Beermen player, are known for their defensive prowess and teamwork.

Despite the loss in Game 1, the Beermen remain confident and are looking forward to a more intense battle in Game 2.

Russia's admission to OIC seen to boost RP's bid

By Zeynep K. Sener
 The Russian Federation's admission to the Organisation of Islamic Cooperation (OIC) is seen as a significant step towards strengthening the ties between the two organizations, and is expected to boost the Republic of Palestine's bid for full membership in the OIC.

The OIC is a 57-member organization of predominantly Muslim states, established in 1969. It aims to promote cooperation and solidarity among its members, and to address the common concerns of the Muslim world. The organization has been instrumental in advocating for the rights of Muslims and the interests of the Islamic world on the international stage.

The Daily Gospel

Matthew 23:1-12

At that time Jesus said to the people of Jerusalem: "You who say, 'We are descendants of Abraham and we have been circumcised by him,' yet you refuse to do the will of my Father who is in heaven. You reject my commands that you may not love one another, and you hate me, because I have said, 'I have rejected your traditions, which are contrary to the commandment of God.'"

Matthew 23:13-15

"Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, who say, 'We do not defile ourselves by eating and drinking with anyone who has not been circumcised according to the tradition of the elders,' yet you neglect the commandment of God, that you may keep your traditions."

Matthew 23:16-22

"Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, who say, 'We do not drink wine or get drunk,' yet you neglect the commandment of God, that you may not drink wine or get drunk."

Matthew 23:23-24

"Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, who say, 'We do not eat the fruit of the fig tree or the pomegranate tree until we have washed them with water,' yet you neglect the commandment of God, that you may not eat the fruit of the fig tree or the pomegranate tree until you have washed them with water."

Matthew 23:25-28

"Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, who say, 'We do not eat bread or drink wine without first washing our hands and feet,' yet you neglect the commandment of God, that you may not eat bread or drink wine without first washing your hands and feet."

Matthew 23:29-32

"Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, who say, 'We do not marry,' yet you neglect the commandment of God, that you may not marry."

Matthew 23:33-35

"Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, who say, 'We do not swear,' yet you neglect the commandment of God, that you may not swear."

Matthew 23:36-38

"Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, who say, 'We do not commit adultery,' yet you neglect the commandment of God, that you may not commit adultery."

Supreme Court Decisions

Supreme Court Decisions

The Supreme Court has issued several decisions in recent months, including a ruling on the constitutionality of the Affordable Care Act (ACA) and a ruling on the constitutionality of the National Defense Authorization Act (NDAA).

ACA Decision

The Supreme Court ruled in favor of the ACA, holding that the individual mandate is a valid exercise of Congress's power under the Commerce Clause and the Taxing and Spending Clause.

NDAA Decision

The Supreme Court ruled in favor of the NDAA, holding that the act is constitutional and does not violate the Fifth Amendment's due process clause.

More social workers to help OFWs

By Zeynep K. Sener
 The Department of Social Welfare and Development (DSWD) is planning to hire more social workers to assist Overseas Filipino Workers (OFWs) in various aspects of their lives, including job placement, legal assistance, and social support.

The DSWD is currently in the process of recruiting qualified social workers who have experience working with OFWs. The new social workers will be assigned to various offices across the country, where they will provide direct assistance to OFWs and their families.

Church sets unified stand GMA vows to defend E-YAT law before SC

Manila—The Philippine Episcopal Conference (PEC) has set a unified stand against the proposed E-YAT law, saying it is "incompatible with the Church's teaching on the sanctity of human life."

"We would like to express our opposition to the proposed E-YAT law, which is in direct conflict with the Church's teaching on the sanctity of human life," said Bishop Antonio Ledesma, president of the PEC.

The PEC is the highest ecclesiastical authority in the Philippines, and its members include all the bishops of the country.

The proposed E-YAT law, which would allow the sale of human organs for transplantation, has been introduced in the Philippine House of Representatives. The law is sponsored by Representative Antonio Trilla, Jr., of the Liberal Party.

The PEC has expressed its opposition to the law because it believes that the sale of human organs is a violation of the sanctity of human life. The Church teaches that human life is a gift from God and should be treated with respect and dignity.

The PEC has also expressed its opposition to the law because it believes that the sale of human organs is a form of exploitation. The Church teaches that all people are created in the image and likeness of God and should be treated with dignity and respect.

Senator Antonio Trilla, Jr., who introduced the law, said that the law is necessary to protect the health of people who need organ transplants. He said that the law would allow people to sell their organs for a reasonable price, which would help them to support their families.

Trilla said that the law would also help to reduce the number of people who die each year because of organ failure. He said that the law would allow people to sell their organs to people who need them, which would help to save lives.

But Bishop Ledesma said that the law is a violation of the Church's teaching on the sanctity of human life. He said that the Church believes that human life is a gift from God and should be treated with respect and dignity. He said that the Church believes that the sale of human organs is a violation of this teaching.

Gab ready to assist Pacquiao vs Nazario

By Robert Lapina
Manila, Philippines

THE 1980s and 1990s are remembered for the rise of boxing in the Philippines. It was a time when the sport was at its peak, with many local fighters making names for themselves in the ring. One of the most prominent figures of this era was Manny Pacquiao, who has since become a global star. Now, as he prepares to fight against Juan Antonio Nazario, the Philippines is once again looking to its boxing heroes for inspiration and support.

In the past, boxing has been a source of pride for the Filipino people. It is a sport that has produced many champions, both locally and internationally. The success of these fighters has inspired a new generation of boxers, and the sport remains a popular pastime for many Filipinos.

As Pacquiao prepares to take on Nazario, the Philippines is once again united in support of its national hero. The fight is not just a sporting event; it is a celebration of Filipino pride and a testament to the power of boxing in the Philippines.

Insincere political class

By

Manila (AP) —

The Philippine political class is often criticized for being insincere and self-serving. They are accused of prioritizing their own interests over the needs of the people. This has led to a lack of trust in the government and a sense of disillusion among the Filipino people. The political class is often seen as a closed circle of elites who are not accountable to the public. They are accused of using their power to enrich themselves and their families, while ignoring the needs of the poor and the marginalized. This has led to a growing gap between the rich and the poor, and a sense of injustice among the Filipino people.

Security

Dirty old uncle

My daughter's brush with a pedophile apparently did not leave her traumatized. That's why I believe in guardian angels

By Glida Cordara-Fernando

THANK heaven she has three sons and is now 45, because when my daughter was in kindergarten she had a brush with a pedophile.

At 6:30 every day Wendy was brought to the corner grocery in our car. There the maid loaded her into the Maryknoll school bus. If they were early or the bus was late, my daughter and the maid hung around the grocery. We patronized all vendors for all our needs; it seemed so safe. The driver had been with us six years, the maid (a kitchen helper because Wendy was too old to have her own yaya) two.

In the middle of her homework one day there was a telephone call for Wendy. She talked into the phone then came back.

"Who was that?" I asked, thinking it was a classmate.

"Oh," she said, "the rimo."

"What's that?" I asked (I have only one brother-in-law and he doesn't call Wendy).

"The rimo that's in the grocery."

"Who's that?" I asked. "What does he want?"

"He wanted to know if I had already taken a bath," was asked.

"Does he call you often?" I asked calmly, not wanting her to get frightened.

"Sometimes," she said dismissively as if she considered the caller a pest.

"And what else did he want to know?"

"He wanted to know if I had washed my hair."

"What else?" I asked, trembling with fear and rage.

She sighed as if terribly bored with the subject.

Sometime later my husband and I tried to interrogate Wendy again, but she could neither identify nor describe the man.

"Once," said our 5½-year-old daughter, "he gave me P."

"Where?" I asked.

"In the grocery where Wendy and I wait."

My husband and I were in near panic. We cross-examined the maid who said she had never noticed any man talking to Wendy. We asked our other help if the man called often. They said they didn't know of any man phoning Wendy. We were exasperated and hopping mad.

Upon further prodding, our daughter said the man was known to us—in fact, she was Daddy's friend (or so the man made out—or was he really?). Wendy thought she, in fact, had seen him at one of our parties. (Did she? Or did the stalker suggest that?) The person apparently made the child feel he was some family friend or venerable uncle, therefore, safe.

Wendy is not a particularly good storyteller, and we could get nothing more from her. She wasn't frightened, but she couldn't seem to recall anything besides seeing him at the grocery every morning when she waited for the school bus. (Did he go there before he went to work, or—horror!—before he brought his own children to school? Did he

The following questions are part of the instrument. A finding concerning smoking is that the majority of smokers (80%) were male, while 20% were female. In addition, 20% of the smokers were aged 18-24, 30% were aged 25-34, 30% were aged 35-44, and 20% were aged 45-54.

4.2. Greater Teacher Mobility. Greater teacher mobility is often cited as one of the most important factors in explaining school success.

Abstract—This study examined the effects of a 12-week, 30-min, 3 times per week, low-impact aerobically demanding dance program on the health-related fitness of 10 sedentary, middle-aged women. The program was designed to be fun and enjoyable, and to include a variety of dance styles. The program was evaluated using a pretest and posttest design. The results showed that the program had a positive effect on the health-related fitness of the women. The program had a positive effect on the women's cardiovascular fitness, as measured by the 6-minute walk test. The program also had a positive effect on the women's muscular fitness, as measured by the 1-minute sit-up test. The program had no effect on the women's body composition, as measured by the body mass index (BMI). The results of this study suggest that a low-impact aerobically demanding dance program can be an effective way to improve the health-related fitness of sedentary, middle-aged women.

Aggression against women. The authors report that 10% of the sample of 1,000 men (aged 18-40) had been involved in at least one episode of aggression against a woman. The authors note that the prevalence of aggression against women is higher than that reported in previous studies.

Abstract—The purpose of this study was to determine the effect of a 10-week training program on the heart rate (HR) and blood pressure (BP) of sedentary, middle-aged men. The subjects were divided into two groups: a control group and a training group. The training group performed a 10-week aerobic training program. The HR and BP were measured at baseline and at the end of the 10-week period. The results showed that the training group had a significant decrease in HR and BP compared to the control group. The HR decreased from 72 to 68 beats per minute, and the BP decreased from 120/80 to 110/70 mmHg. The control group showed no significant changes in HR and BP. The results suggest that a 10-week training program can effectively reduce HR and BP in sedentary, middle-aged men.

Abstract The purpose of this study was to determine the effect of a 12-week, low-intensity, supervised walking program on the physical and psychological health of sedentary, middle-aged women. The study was a randomized, controlled trial. The subjects were 40 sedentary, middle-aged women who were randomly assigned to either a supervised walking program or a control group. The walking program consisted of 12 weeks of supervised walking, 3 times per week, for 30 minutes per session. The control group consisted of 20 women who did not participate in the walking program. The subjects were assessed at baseline and at 12 weeks. The walking program had a significant positive effect on the physical and psychological health of the subjects. The walking program significantly improved the subjects' physical health, as measured by the 6-minute walk test, and their psychological health, as measured by the Beck Depression Inventory and the State-Trait Anxiety Inventory. The walking program also had a significant positive effect on the subjects' quality of life, as measured by the SF-36. The walking program was well tolerated and had no adverse effects. The results of this study suggest that a supervised walking program can be an effective intervention for improving the physical and psychological health of sedentary, middle-aged women.

With water control that's better on a tap, plants in a pot can be given more attention than those in the ground.

Still get a lot of attention right in the heart of the house, most of the plants in pots are given more attention than those in the ground.

That's why many house plants are given more attention than those in the ground.

But many are 'labeled' in common plants in the house, and with a little care, they can be grown.

Flowers in pots can be given more attention than those in the ground.

Flowering friendship

By [Name] and [Name]

I have a friend who is a plant lover. She has a large collection of plants in her home, and she is always giving me advice on how to care for them.

One day, she showed me a plant that she had just bought. It was a small, green plant with yellow flowers. She said it was a 'flowering friendship' plant, and that it was very special.

I was curious about the plant, so I asked her to tell me more about it. She said that it was a plant that was very hard to find, and that it was very expensive. She said that it was a plant that was very special, and that it was very hard to find.
